Wednesday, February 12. 1707.

London, February 12.

THE remaining Part of the Relation, printed at Paris, of the Ceremony observ'd at Lille on Occasion of the Elector of Cologne's celebrating his first Mass in the Jesuites Church in that City, on New Year's-Day last. The former Part of which Relation, was inserted in the Courant two Days ago.

THE two Electors being arriv'd at the Church, were receiv'd at the Door by the Community of the reverend Fathers the Jesuites; the Bishop of Tournay being at their Head, in his Cope and Mitre, presented the Holy Water to their Electoral Highnesses and accompanied them up to the Altar, the two Youngest Canons of Liege carrying the Train of the Elector of Cologne's Robe.

Being come up near the Altar, the two Electors kneel'd down at the same Desk; and after they had said their Prayers, they plac'd themselves each on the Throne prepar'd for them; the Elector of Cologne's Throne was of white Damask border'd with Cloath of Silver, was rais'd three Steps, and plac'd on the same Side of the Altar as the Gospels; the Elector of Bavaria's Throne was of Crimson Velver, border'd with a gold Galloon and Fringe, was also rais'd three Steps, and plac'd on that Side the Altar where are the Epistles.

From thence the Elector of Cologne, follow'd by his Assistants and Officers, went to a Chappel where his Sacerdotal Vests were laid ready, and while he was putting them on the Musick sung the Anthem Dominus regnavit, as set by M. de la Lande Master of the Musick of the King of France's Chappel.

His Electoral Highness returning to the Altar in his Priest's Habit, began the Hymn Veni Creator, and while the Musick were singing it out, he made a Procession round the Church accompanied by his Assistants.

Being come back agen to the Altar, he sung the Prayer to the Holy Ghost, and then the Musick began the Introitus (or Beginning of Mass.) His Electoral Highness taking off the Cope in which he had made the Procession, before he put on the Chasuble step'd to the Elector of Bavaria, who put a Nuptial Crown on his Head; then he put on the Chasuble and began High Mass: During the Introitus the Bishop of Tournay attended on his Right-Hand in a Cope, and an Archdeacon of the Church of Liege in a Cope likewise on his Left; and when it was ended, the Bishop of Tournay sat down in an Elbow-Chair on that side of the Altar where the Gospels are plac'd: The Persons who officiated as Deacon and Sub-deacon, were two Canons of the Church of Liege.

The Elector of Bavaria made his Offering by himself; and while the Offertory was saying, the Elector of Cologne wash'd his Hands, the principal Officers of his Household bringing the Basin, Ewer, and Knapkin.

While the Gospel was reading, and during the Elevation of the Host, six of the Elector of Cologne's Pages approach'd the Altar, with each a Flambeau of White Wax.

The Elector of Bavaria receiv'd the Communion from the Hands of his Brother; and before he retir'd from the Altar, a Gentleman of his Bed-Chamber presented to him on a Salver a Cup of Wine and Water, which he us'd as the Manner is on that Occasion.

Mass being ended, the Musick sung the Domine salvum fac Regem; and then the Elector of Cologne sung the Prayer for the King of France, another for the Elector of Bavaria, and another for himself.

Then he began the Te Deum; and while the Musick went through with it, his Electoral Highness of Cologne having put off the Chasuble, the Elector of Bavaria came up to the Altar to receive his Benediction. The principal Officers of the two Courts kiss'd his Hand and receiv'd his Benediction likewise; and then he walk'd round the Church to give the People the Satisfaction of Kissing his Hand and receiving his Benediction. Returning to the Altar, the Benedicamus Patrem was sung, and then his Electoral Highness singing the usual Prayer, the Ceremony of the Church was concluded.

Having quitted his sacred Ornaments, he went out of the Church with the Elector of Bavaria, and they were conducted, in the same Manner they had come to Church, to the Town House, where Dinner was provided by the Elector of Cologne's Officers, there not being Room enough in his own House since Part of it was burnt last Year.

At their alighting out of the Coach, the two Electors were complimented by the Magistrates of the City, and several Volleys of Musquets were made by the City-Company of Harquebusiers who were drawn up in the Square before the Town-House.

Their Electoral Highnesses were conducted into two Chambers provided for them to stay in till Dinner was ready.

In the Hall an Alcove was rais'd three Steps above the Floor, on which was plac'd a Table almost square, and over it hung a Canopy of Crimson Velver. At that Table the two Electors eat alone, sitting in Elbow Chairs of Crimson Velver, the Elector of Cologne having the Right Hand, and both were serv'd by their principal Officers respectively.

While they sat at Dinner several French Songs were sung to Musick. The two Electors having drank once after they had din'd, all those for whom there were Tables provided, retir'd to dine. There were six several Tables, which were furnish'd with the greatest Magnificence. After Dinner, the two Electors took Coach, and went to Vespers, which were sung by the Musick.

At Night a Firework was let off before the Town-House, and all the Houses were illuminated: During High Mass three Salvoes were made by all the Artillery of the Place, and the like was done at Night.

In the March from the Church to the Town-House, one of the Elector of Cologne's Gentlemen threw Money among the People.

That Elector has caus'd a Medal to be struck, which on one side shews the Day and Place where he said his first Mass, in the following Words: Josephus Clemens Deo litans Insulae, Kalendu Januarii in Templo P. P. Societatis Jesu. That is, Joseph Clement sacrificing to God in Lisle, the 1st Day of January, in the Church of the Fathers of the Society of Jesus. On the Reverse is a Calice with an Host over it, and underneath are two Hands joyn'd, and these Words Pia concordia Fratrum, to denote the Holy Union made that Day between the two Electors, by one receiving the Communion of the other.

The numeral Letters, express'd by Capitals, in the Words JosephVs CLeMens Deo Litans, and in pia ConCorDIA fratrVM, specify the Year in which this Ceremony was perform'd.

All sorts of Ruptures and Broken Bellies cured, and Trusses made of all sorts with Springs, Joyns, Screws or plain, so easy that none such are made, as many by experience can testify, they being without pain or trouble, and no hindrance to business; and strait Stockings made by Wm Collier at the Bell and a Naked Boys in St. John's-Lane near Clarkenwell.

RACHEL ORMSTON, late of Martin's Lane, now Lives in the New-Buildings in Lawrence-street, near the Church in Great Chelsea, where she continues to Reduce all sorts of Crookedness by the Method invented by the Famous VAN HELMONT, which is the most Certain, Safe, and the Easieſt Way that has yet been Practiced or Known, being without those Ragged and painful Racks of Neck-Swings, Iron-Bodice, or other Pretties that are commonly us'd in such Cases, which are sure always to give abundance of Pain and Uneasiness, without any Certainty of Cure; wherein if they Fail, as often they do otherwise, (because they depend altogether upon Force, without any probable Reaſon) commonly leave the Patient either Decriped, or Conſumptive, or both, at best Unhealthy. But this Method is altogether Easy, without any Force, and Conſonant to the Gentle Rules of Nature, and the Tender Bodies of Growing Children; and for that Reason has all the Assurances of Success that Moral Probability can give, as the Practice has Demonſtrated, in ſomuch that ſome have ſcrupled to believe it to be the ſame Children after the Cure is perform'd.

The true Balsam of Cathay, ſo eminently known these many Years for its incomparable Virtues in giving immediate Eafe in the Gout and Rheumatism, beyond any other Remedy yet publish'd, is to be had only of Mr. James Dodd at Mason's Coffee-house in Bartholomew-lane behind the Royal Exchange at 2s. 6d. a Box with directions.
